GARRY ♡ OLIVIA

Hi there,

We're so excited you took the time to explore your destination wedding dreams with us. Before you dive too far into timelines and to-do lists, we wanted to leave you with tools to help you feel grounded, inspired, and intentional from the very beginning.

Think of this checklist as your companion to our guided planning form a self-paced way to help you start imagining, shaping, and prioritizing what matters most. Together, they're designed to set the foundation for your planning journey, so your experience from takeoff to "I do" is seamlessly executed with your vision in mind. We hope these tools serve as a meaningful starting point, from us to you.

With Love

Start Here: The Planning Foundations

□ Review your Couples Intake Form and fill in any missing details.
□ Talk through your top 3 wedding priorities as a couple.
□ Create or update your shared Pinterest board.
□ Reflect on how you want to feel during this journey, supported? relaxed? connected? Write down one or two intentions you want to hold onto as you plan together.

Your Love Story, In Photos

□ Gather 3–5 of your favorite photos of the two of you.
□ Start dreaming up a location for your couple shoot, ideally ahead of any guest communication.

Think Through Your People

□ Identify who must be there (Invite 100 guests? Expect 50–75 to say "yes," depending on travel ease, timing, and cost).
□ Check in with your VIPs who may need extra lead time.

Beyond the Basics: Designing with Intention

□ Start a shared note for emotional touchpoints: what do you want your guests to feel at different moments?
□ Talk about the overall energy you want to lead with, laid-back and soulful? Elegant and bold?
□ Jot down any cultural elements, rituals, or family traditions that feel important to include.
□ Consider small moments of hospitality, a welcome drink, local treat, or handwritten note that can make a lasting impression.

One Last Thought as You Ease into Planning

Whether you're still exploring or already deep in the dreaming phase, we hope this checklist and your guided planning form offer a clear, supportive place to begin. Taking the time to align your priorities, guest vision, and story is a beautiful way to ground the journey ahead, and you've just done exactly that.

If you choose to bring us on as your dedicated planning team, here are a few things we want you to know:

- The difference isn't just in the logistics; it's in the advocacy.
- Where resort coordinators focus on the venue, we focus on you, your values, your people, your experience as a whole.
- We plan across regions, vet venues without bias, and build every moment around your vision.
- From vendor access to creative freedom, from multi-day timelines to guest hospitality, our loyalty is fully aligned with you. That means fewer limits, better strategy, and a partner who sees the big picture, even when things get detailed.

If and when the time feels right, we'd be honored to be that partner.

But for now, keep talking and exploring. You're off to a beautifully intentional start.
